

MORSE RELEASE ONE CHARGE IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Keller Alleges Revenge Prompted Second Indictment Against Banker

Declares Banker Failed to Pay Fee For Securing Release

Washington, Dec. 2.—A statement of formal charges by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, setting forth 14 specific grounds on which he seeks the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty has been submitted to the house judiciary committee which meets next Monday to consider the charges. Transmitted to the committee late yesterday, Mr. Keller's statement was accompanied by a letter to Chairman Volstead in which he declared the specifications "set out and I am prepared to prove that the said Daugherty is guilty of serious misconduct in office" and of "high crimes and misdemeanors in 14 particulars."

"If any of the grounds set forth can be said to be more important than any other," Mr. Keller said in his statement, "it was that group relating to the refusal and neglect of the said Harry L. Daugherty to enforce the anti-trust laws of the United States of America."

Alleging as another ground that the attorney general had appointed "untrustworthy, corrupt and dangerous men" to high office, Mr. Keller named Chief Justice Taft as a witness to be called in support of this particular allegation, with George W. Wickersham, former attorney general, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and Guy Oyster, Mr. Gompers' secretary, as other desired witnesses in the connection.

Another specification alleged against the attorney general by the Minnesota representative was that he had practiced "fraud and deceit" in Mr. Taft's refusal to obtain the release of Charles W. Morse and that because of Morse's failure to pay to Daugherty's associates in the pardon proceedings an agreed fee, he had "procured the release of the said Charles W. Morse for purposes of personal revenge, by securing indictment of Morse."

Keller's charges were considered informally today by members of the house judiciary committee to which they were presented late yesterday.

Desiring to obtain the views of members as to the procedure next week, Chairman Volstead summoned the committee for discussion of the charges, but declined to comment on the charges, saying they would be considered in detail later.

There was no intimation as to whether the committee would go ahead with the hearing date, Monday, the date originally set. Mr. Keller's bill of particulars but less than a quorum reported. Mr. Volstead declined to comment on the charges, saying they would be considered in detail later.

Pennies Paid for Seals Help Save Many Lives

E. A. Reed, Columbus, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, in a statement today asserted that "every penny that is given in exchange for Christmas seals in Ohio will be put to work on a definite program for fighting the disease against the white plague, and promoting good health."

Chairman Reed issued the following appeal to the public to support the seal sale which began Thanksgiving Day and lasts until Christmas:

The re-appearance of the Christmas seals for the 15th season is a reminder of the wonderful progress which has been made in our state and in the nation in decreasing the ravages of tuberculosis and also of the problem which still confronts us.

"It is estimated that of tuberculosis were eliminated as a cause of death, two and one half years would be added to the life of each individual in the country. Capitalizing each individual life in a population of 100,000,000, $100, a year, the net saving would be at least 25 billion dollars. The economic loss due to tuberculosis is one that should appeal to a business nation."

"There is no work in which we are engaged that is so useful as that of protecting the health of our boys and girls. Funds raised through the annual sale of Christmas seals are being used for preventive work among children. It is a noble and a necessary measure of self-protection in which every one can have a part, and from which every individual derives some benefit."

KILLS SELF IN HOME OF FORMER WIFE

Cincinnati, Dec. 2.—Grief over the death of his son, and despondency over his failure to effect a reconciliation with his wife caused John M. Wells, 43 years old, real estate dealer to end his life, his friends asserted today.

Less than a month after he had made a desperate attempt to die by cutting his throat and wrist, Wells succeeded in his plan of taking his own life when he shot himself last night. His death took place at the residence of his former wife, Mrs. Anna Morelin Wells. Mrs. Wells is a daughter of the late Christian Morelin, pioneer Cincinnati brewer.

So determined had Wells been recently in his efforts to secure a reconciliation with his wife that she employed private detectives to guard the house and prevent his going there. He eluded these guards last night, crept through a cellar window and shot himself.

It is believed that the demonstration was an outgrowth of Mr. Wells' refusal to permit the counsel to discuss the recent executions in Dublin.

RICH ESCAPE TAX COLLECTOR BLAINE ASSERTS

Wisconsin Governor Says Secretary Mellon Favors Wealthy

Declares He Encourages Corporations to Defraud Government

Washington, Dec. 2.—Discrimination in favor of the rich taxpayer and profligate was imputed to Secretary Mellon of the treasury department by Governor John J. Blaine of Wisconsin in an address here today at a national conference of progressives.

In advocating removal of the secrecy ban upon income tax returns, Governor Blaine attacked Secretary Mellon for his recent statements in correspondence with Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, that the government could not reach corporations' indistributed surplus which are the basis for stock dividends.

"Now what Mr. Mellon meant when he said that the government cannot collect taxes due from income and surpluses on excess profits was that what the profiteers and millionaires do to escape the income and surpluses is to make false returns," said Governor Blaine, "some times through innocent but often through deceit and fraud by legal devices and tricks of trade, legally cheat the government."

Declaring that secrecy of income tax information was responsible for many frauds upon government and that disclosure would put the situation, Governor Blaine continued:

"But suppose Mr. Mellon would scourge the profiteer and the millionaire with the same vigor that he does the lesser criminals? Suppose he would really try to collect the taxes assessed on the rich. Is it true that the government is powerless to enforce the law against the rich or is it just a lack of desire on the part of Mr. Mellon to place all taxes on an equality before the law?"

The purpose of the new "progressive" movement inaugurated yesterday by organization of the progressives in the issue by county, formerly to be legislative and not political in resolutions adopted at a general public conference.

Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin presided over the general public gathering today which was attended by more than 100 members of congress, governors and other leaders. Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, was elected secretary of the conference.

The first resolution adopted by the convention declared that the movement was "non-partisan" and would devote itself to "consideration of legislative methods and means for operation and support" of the general legislative program adopted yesterday by the new progressive congressional bloc.

In a resolution of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor the resolutions had been amended to declare the movement non-partisan instead of "non-political."

Senator LaFollette declared that "there seems to be a mandate growing out of the election for a movement to advance the interest of the people."

Said organization yesterday of the new bloc "the greatest and most encouraging thing" in his experience. "It is proposed," said Senator LaFollette, "that each legislative step shall be well grounded and not at one stroke."

Christmas Committee is Ready for Bigger Job

The same organization which carried joy and comfort into the homes of many Newark people who would have spent a dreary Christmas, will handle the community Christmas effort for this year, it was announced today by Chairman George M. Penberg of the Central Christmas committee.

An effort is being made to organize a "work shop" for the repair and repainting of toys. This phase of the work has been unsatisfactory in the past because of the lack of equipment and materials with which to make repairs.

It was announced that donations of cash would be accepted anytime by the secretary or treasurer. Checks should be made payable to C. R. Van Voorhis, chairman of the Central Christmas committee. Gifts should be plainly marked "for the Christmas committee."

Bishop was held in custody until he put up a $100 bond for appearance in municipal court this morning, when Judge Bolton continued the case until further reports on the condition of the boys would be obtained.

The prince had anything but the appearance of an ecclesiastical personage as he was in a rain coat, riding breeches, high boots and the conventional Fez. BASKETBALL LEAGUE READY

Seven Teams Already Sign Up For Season—Pharis Plant May Furnish Eighth Quintet.

The Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball League will open the 1923 season Tuesday night, December 12 at Hickey Hall. Representatives of several teams met last night at the 'Y' to talk over rules and other matters concerning the league. One place is not yet definitely taken but it is thought that the Pharis team will fill the gap. On Thursday night, December 14, B. & O. plays Midland in the first game and the Phil Deltis play the C. G. team.

This means that players on the Business College team must be actual students and that players on the Phil Deltis be members of that fraternity. A special rule was made last night in favor of the Printers, giving them one non employee on their team. This was done because of their very small group from which to choose a team. The eligible lists must be in the hands of the secretary of the league before the season terms is played. The season will start on that date become eligible to play after 14 days. No man is permitted to play on two Industrial teams. Any protest is to be made in writing and the same concerned are to be presented at the council meeting when the protest is acted upon. The council is made up of the manager of each team and the league secretary.

Non employee games are permitted except for occasions for which a full team is necessary. The games will be played on Tuesday and Wednesday nights with the first game on Tuesday, December 12, at 7:30 and the last game on Wednesday, December 13, at 7:30. The regular 20 minute half will be played for the opening of the season. Following the first round of play the teams will be scattered into A and B divisions according to their standing at the end of the first round and the schedule revised so that a Division B and Division A game will be played on the same night. A suitable prize will be given the winners in each class, following the close of the season, March 15th.

Reserve To Schedule Weaker Teams in 1923

Cleveland, Dec. 2.—Naval Academy and other large colleges will be dropped from the football schedule of the Western Reserve University indefinitely, it was learned here today. Director Yocum and Coach Holtkamp plan scheduling games with weaker teams, it was announced, with which the Reserve eleven is believed to have a chance. Stronger schedules will be arranged as the local improves. They are going to try to restore the Western Reserve morale, Holtkamp said. "That cannot be done by sending the eleven, year after year, against teams we know are going to trounce it by one or two scores." Nine of last year's squad will graduate in June. Preserved better than many an Egyptian mummy, a shrunken body of an Indian chief who died some 1,000 years ago has been brought to the United States by a team of engineers.

Uncle Sam Is Sending $3,000,000 Back To Licking Co.

Let's Keep Every Dollar of It HERE!

DURING THE EARLY DAYS OF THE WAR, Licking county people attracted state wide attention by their loyal response to the demands of the government. During 1918, $1,546,305 worth of War Savings Stamps were purchased by our people. In addition Licking county people bought $1,588,200 worth of Victory Notes. All of this money is now ready for redemption. The government is ready to send it back to Licking county people.

WHEN LICKING COUNTY PEOPLE invested their savings with the government all were prosperous. There was plenty of money in the community. Money is not so plentiful now and as a result there isn't as much work for everyone as there was several years ago. But if the money that the government is returning is kept in Licking county it will help greatly toward making better times and more work.

We've Wasted $1,000,000--- Don't Waste Any More!

LICKING COUNTY PEOPLE during the last few years have wasted considerable money. State authorities estimate that we have put more than $1,000,000 in securities that turned out to be worthless. Most of this money was invested badly because the investor was not familiar with the investment that he bought.

There is a Way To Invest Money Safely

WE HAVE IN OUR COMMUNITY men who are well qualified to advise with you regarding the reinvestment of the money that you are going to get back from the government. Such a service will be competently rendered you by the officials of our local banks and building, loan and savings institutions. They are men who have gained their investment knowledge through long years of experience. If you own government savings securities it will pay you to get in touch with your local building and loan or banking officials at once.

THREE-TIER FROCK IS LATEST

Not one slanting hemline, but three, help this new gown show how very new it is.

Even the waistline slants and after that what could one expect? The waistline is low and the skirt is really long.

This is just one of the smart tailored frocks that stroll along the avenue these chilly autumn days. Crepes, twills and even velvet are the materials used.

Crocodile crepes, blistered silks and matelasse are seen, too, and it is doubtless the popularity of these elaborate materials that has done away with trimmings, since only plain fabrics are improved by decorations.

A number of friends of Roy Nadolson surprised him at his home in 30 East Shields street Friday evening, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. The evening was spent with games and supper was served the following: Misses Blanch Claggett, Helen Jones, Edna Feaster, Gertrude Nadolson, Emma, Clara and Eleanor Weisert, Donna Feaster, Agnes Nadolson, Messrs Roy Jones, Barney Place, Walter Nadolson, John Weisert, Lawrence Nadolson, Russell Dover and Guy Feaster. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nadolson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nadolson, Mrs. John Coakley.

Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the parsonage of the Neal Avenue M. E. church, Rev. A. J. Hawk solemnized the marriage of Miss Edith E. Kinn, who lives south of Newark and Mr. Clarence A. Harter of Akron. Mr. and Mrs. Harter will reside in Akron.

The home of Elder and Mrs. Harvey J. Daily in Park avenue, was the scene of an attractive event Friday evening, when the piano pupils of Mrs. Daily were heard in recital. The program which was entertainingly presented, included piano numbers, humorous songs, and monologues. Two violin solos were given by Miss Mary E. Stealy, accompanied by Miss Charlotte Martin, and a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dally, Mr. Levi Patterson and Miss Laura Harrod.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The out of town guests were Miss Lilabel Cole of Ashley, a former student of Mrs. Daily, and Miss Laura Harrod, who is a guest at the Daily home.

Mrs. Nicholas Youse will entertain the members of the Missionary society of North Franklin at her home Wednesday afternoon, December sixth instead of Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richards entertained at dinner Tuesday evening. The time was spent in games by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kearns, Hazel Kearns, Ray Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams Jr.

The marriage of Miss Eva N. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Jones of Hanover and Mr. Lionel L. Wolford of Painesville, was solemnized at three o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Howard T. Ray officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Mary O'Hare, as maid of honor and Mr. Lones Harrod was best man. The bride paraded the room to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. Ray. The Mendelssohn wedding march was played at the close of the ceremony. A gown of biscuit colored crepe satin with corsage of pink roses was worn by the bride. Her maid was gowned in brown velvet. Dinner was served after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolford are both teachers in the public schools of the county. They will be at home at 309 Woodview avenue, after December fourth.

CHAPTER 16 THE LOVE BIRD HAD FLOWN

After securing his passage on the Zealand, Barrett went to the office of his personal lawyer.

"Allison, I'm leaving for Europe tomorrow," he told the kind but grave old senior partner. "I'll be gone long enough to establish grounds for a suit for divorce by my wife. Desertion, of course. I want you to do everything legitimate to facilitate it."

The old man rose hastily, agitated, profoundly troubled.

"Why, John Barrett, I didn't know—never dreamed—have you thought this over—have you considered—"

"Everything. Meanwhile see that my family has everything of mine but the bare necessities of my travel abroad. Get together with my wife's lawyer."

"Have things go through with as little distress to Anita as possible."

Allison drummed with his fingers. "Just a minute, Barrett. Aren't you lacking in frankness a little, I'm an old man. I can talk to you plainly."

"What am I to say to those who mention—Myra Dean? Now, Barrett, everyone knows she is going tomorrow too—it was in the papers. Big newspaper assignment. Far East or somewhere."

"Damn it, Allison, how dare—" "That will not answer the question tomorrow any more than it does now. I couldn't take your case on any such ground as desertion. You're known that you and Miss Dean left for Europe the same day. Why, your wife won't need to stir out of the state to bring suit."

Barrett leaped to his feet. "Miss Dean sailed on the Cordic for the Balkan states. I am booked on the Zealand for Holland."

Old Allison shrugged a thin shoulder. "Theoretically that ought to make a difference."

"You mean you don't believe me?" "I mean that others will not."

"Then they will have to make the best of their doubts. Good-bye."

Barrett had come on down to change his mind under Allison's terse arguments that he refused to Myra for the support it would give him merely to see her for a temporary farewell.

He found her little hour had hoarded up, not a soul but she had deliberately run away from him.

FIVE O'CLOCK MAGIC HOUR FOR MODES THIS SEASON

At this time of the year it's 5 o'clock that's the witching hour for women. Gathering in the smart hotels and tea-shops one may see all the newest fabrics and trimmings.

Chiffon is very good just now—according to pleated or embroidered and beaded. Chiffon velvet is extremely smart, especially if it be embroidered in silver.

Laces of all kinds are worn. Other frocks of crepe Roma or similar black velvet.

Brown is the color oftenest seen and frequently in combination with tan. Among the velvets black is the preferred shade and many navy blues are worn.

Great emphasis is being put on the careful making of more for a costume—shoes, hat, and gloves and stockings as well as jewelry must match or harmonize.

Ohio Club Women

BY MRS. GEORGE ELLIOTT M'CORMICK

How many club women voted in the November election? Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, of Austin, Tex., department chairman for American citizenship, want to know. They have issued a call urging every club to forward without delay the number of women in its membership going to the polls on Nov. 7. This information should be sent to Mrs. Pennybacker, No. 1734 North Street, Washington.

A short time ago the Woman's club gave a playlet at Bellefontaine it was such a big success that mention of it was carried in the Ohio Federation press column, with a statement to the effect that others interested in staging the production should communicate with Mrs. Robert Warren, No. 2648 Kirkwood lane, Toledo, state federation of literature chairman. Up to date, Mrs. Morris reports receiving 40 inquiries from all parts of the country.

The biennial report is ready for mailing. Each club holding direct membership in the General Federation is entitled to a copy. It will be forwarded upon receipt of postage, weight 40 ounces. Orders should be sent to General Federation headquarters, No. 1734 North Street, Washington.

The most successful home-talent show ever conducted in Lima was that of the Lima Federation Nov. 21 and 22, according to reports made by the committee on arrangements. The sum of $500 was cleared. Half of this amount was placed to the credit of the Lima Federation's child-welfare department and the remainder to the general fund.

Dark frocks of Poiret (will or serge are brightened up with bits of bright colored silks or Persian or Indian embroideries. Colored braids are also used to advantage.

der will be expended for welfare work.

Ten chairmen gave their messages at the Central district conference at Zanesville Nov. 21 and 22, followed by one hour's discussion by the various club women about their club problems and in quizzing the chairmen about plans, in which respective clubs were particularly interested. It was shown by the interest manifested on all sides, according to Mrs. William N. Harder, of Marion, the district vice president, that this easily was the feature of the entire convention. Club women, it is evident, want the personal touch and the help growing out of a free discussion of their problems, and district club officials were highly gratified over the success of the discussion-quiz.

Already Marion has begun to plan for the entertainment of the Central district conference next fall. The last district conference was conducted in Marion in 1916 when Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Fremont, was state president and Mrs. John W. Roby, of Lima, was district vice president.

Mrs. Zimmerman is now chairman of the department of fine arts for the state federation and Mrs. Roby is state federation chairman of music.

Mrs. B. F. Freshwater, of Delaware, has been named a member of the state federation committee of music in Central district. Mrs. Freshwater is widely known in musical circles. She was at one time connected with the conservatory of music of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be able to do my work. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a headache every month. I can't praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health." Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 49, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

The problem of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus has been an issue among the nations of the world since before the discovery of America. In 1453, thirty-nine years before Columbus made his first voyage across the Atlantic, the Turks, who had long held the eastern shores of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, obtained control of their western frontage by the capture of Constantinople and adjacent areas and thus asserted the right to control the navigation of that waterway in view of the fact that its entire length from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean fell within Turkish territory. When a few years later they extended their territorial control in Europe to include the entire area fronting upon the Black Sea, the Turks calmly informed all commercial and diplomatic inquirers that the Black Sea was a "chaste and pure virgin" inaccessible to commercial, military fronting upon this vast body of water, the Black Sea, which of itself is double the size of all of the Great Lakes of the United States in combination, began to pass from Turkish hands to that of other nations, the protests against the control commercially, as well as otherwise, of that area itself, and of the only waterway by which it could be connected with the oceans, grew more numerous and especially so as the comparatively level land area through which the Straits passed offered the easiest route of access between the European countries and the Asiatic Continent, of which Europe is a mere peninsula.

include that comparatively narrow strait known as the "Dardanelles," 42 miles in length and from 1 to 5 miles in width, extending in a northeasterly direction from that arm of the Mediterranean known as the Aegean Sea to the "Sea of Marmora," about 160 miles in length, which in turn is connected with the Black Sea by the narrow waterway known as the "Bosphorus," 18 miles in length and from one-half mile to 1 1/2 miles in width. The entire navigable length of this complete waterway between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea, geographically known as the "Straits of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus" is thus about 220 miles, and of course accompanied by the necessary transportation, industrial and banking equipments largely controlled by financial interests outside the area in question.

Protests Against Turkish Control

The continuous control by Turkey of this passage between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea has not been accepted to without protests of European and other countries. Russia, for example, after obtaining a large frontage on the northern shore of the Black Sea became especially anxious that the sea and the straits which connected it with the Mediterranean should be thrown open to her commercial as well as military vessels or at least that she have special privileges for the movement of her great supplies of foodstuffs, mineral oils, and forest products to the waters of the Mediterranean by which they could be moved to the markets of southeastern Europe. Her wheat, meats, mineral oil, lumber, flax and other natural products were wanted by all of Europe and she wanted European manufactures in exchange. But as her territorial and commercial extension was creating commercial and political jealousies among certain of the European countries it was easy for them to form secret treaties with Turkey which would encourage her in insisting upon her claim to the control of the Black Sea and its exit, especially as the Turks were adepts in the art of diplomacy in maintaining their claim.

Trade Privilege Treaties

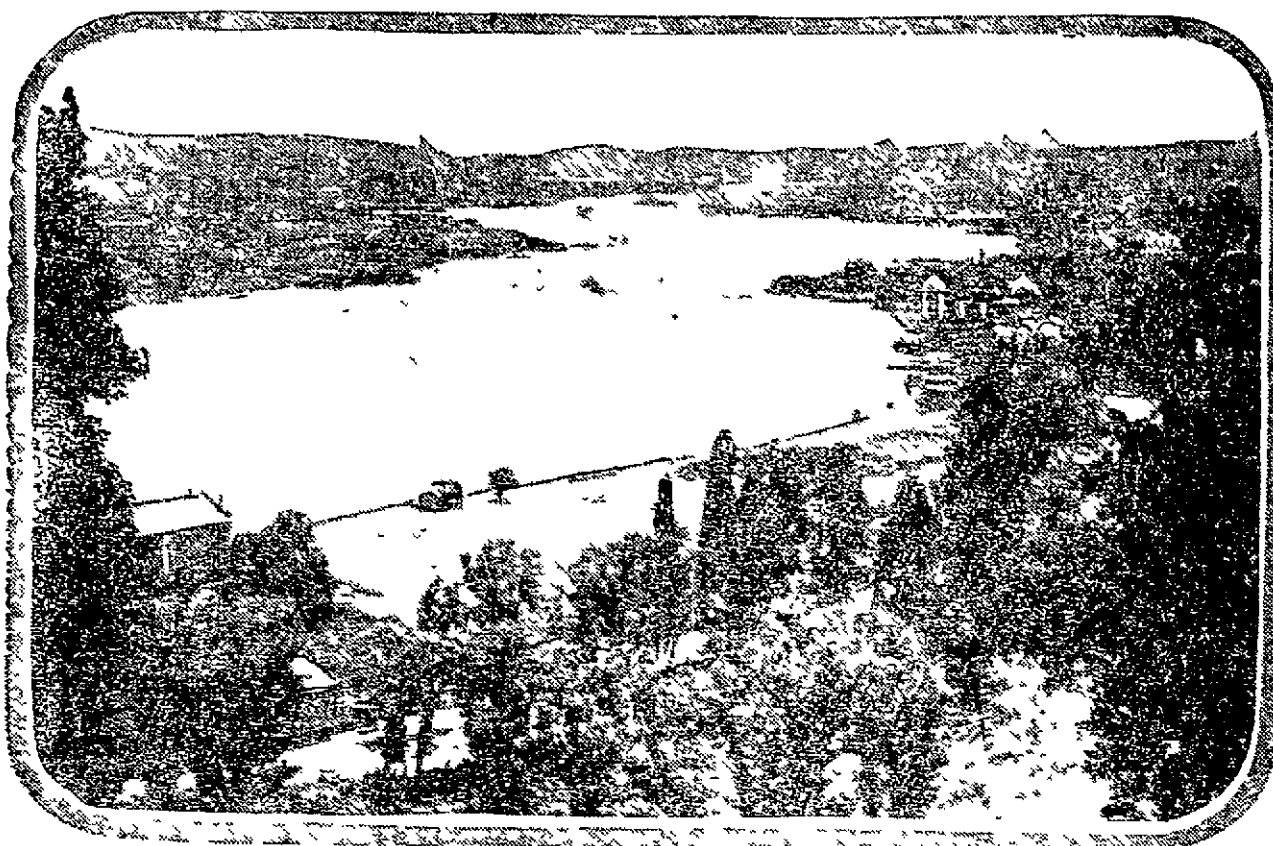

It should not be assumed, however, from all this that all of the commerce of the Black Sea or of that passing through the Straits was actually carried by the Turks, a non-commercial people. The necessary trade and requirements of the countries fronting upon that body of water had grown so large that it demanded facilities of transportation and finance which the Turks could not themselves supply. This demand came especially from the several countries having large frontages on the Black Sea, notably Russia, Bulgaria, Roumania, and the sections of Turkey still occupying the southern frontage of that area, and later came also from the great commercial countries of western Europe which required the nat-

Against Single Nation Control

So it has happened that during the 469 years since Turkey asserted her claim of the right to control the navigation of the Straits of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles, of which both frontages still lie entirely within her territory, there has been a growing desire that the products and commerce of the Black Sea area or 1,000,000 square miles, now including the Bosphorus of 100,000,000 people and an annual commerce of over $1,000,000,000, should not be controlled by any one nation. The passageways between the other great inland seas of the world and the oceans over which commerce may pass freely have one by one been held as inviolable by the control of any one nation. The right of vessels of commerce or military service to enter the Baltic has not been questioned for many years the entrance to the Mediterranean is open to the commerce and military vessels of all nations. The Suez Canal through which the Mediterranean is connected with the Indian Ocean is, by the Suez Canal Convention of 1888 "to be open in time of war as in time of peace to merchantmen or war vessels of all nations" and this same rule applies with slight modification to the Panama Canal. The Straits of Magellan, which connect the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific at the southern end of South America although passing through the territory of Argentina and Chile were by the treaty of Buenos Aires in 1881 "neutralized forever and free navigation granted to the flags of all nations," while freedom of passage in the Strait of Malacca connecting the China Sea with the Indian Ocean does not seem to have been called in question. Even certain great navigable rivers which serve as carriers of commerce for several nations whose territory they touch have been subjected to international control as to freedom of navigation through the services of commissions appointed by the respective states through which they flow or which they touch. Among the rivers on which miles, and its width ranges from one-half mile to 1 1/2 miles in the Bosphorus and from 1 to 5 miles in the Dardanelles, while the width in the Sea of Marmora is about 45 miles. The eastern frontage of this entire waterway had long been held by the Turks and when in 1453 they obtained control of its western frontage through the capture of Constantinople and adjacent territory they assumed the right to reserve for their own ships of commerce or of the military service the exclusive privilege of navigation upon its waters over the entire length from the Mediterranean to the Black Sea, or to at ural products of the Black Sea area. As a result of this growing demand for access to the products of this great fertile area, the Turkish Government during the last century granted through special treaties with the various countries the privilege of maintaining commercial fleets, consuls and other paraphernalia of trade, finance and banking in the Black Sea and Straits, and these privileges were later extended to commercial countries having no frontage on that sea but interested in the trade of that area. Approximately one-half of the quantity of merchandise exported from Russia in 1913 passed through the Black Sea and this was especially true of foodstuffs and mineral oils, and the very power possessed by Turkey to control this trade, especially in case of European or world wars, offered enormous possibilities in the formation of secret or open diplomatic relations with the country possessing such power, and added to the uneasiness of other European powers and to the effect of these secret treaties upon international relations. The possible importance of the control of large quantities of foodstuffs and raw materials in case of war by the action or attitude of a single power intensified the desire of not only European but certain non-European countries for a termination of the conditions under which access to this important area was retained in the hands of one—and especially a non-commercial, power, for although more than one-half of the Black Sea merchandise was carried under foreign flags it was still within the power of a single country, Turkey, to terminate the privileges under which such service by the shipping of the various nations was being performed. The area to which access might at any moment ference included on the one hand Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain and certain other of the members of the League of Nations, and on the other hand, the Imperial Ottoman Government (the Government of the Sultan) represented by certain officials appointed for that service and designated by the treaty itself as "Plenipotentiaries." The result of that conference of the victorious allies on the one hand, and the form of treaty which they handed to the Turkish representatives on the other, was the famous "Treaty of Sevres," laid before the representatives of the Turkish Government on August 10, 1920, and signed under protest by them. Its chief feature as relates to the subjects above discussed was as follows:

Article 37—The navigation of the Straits, including the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus, shall in future be open, both in peace and war, to every vessel of commerce or of war and to military and commercial aircraft, without distinction of flag, and when that flag is subject to blockade, no shall any belligerent right be exercised nor any act of hostility be committed within these waters on pain of a decision of the Council of the League of Nations.

Article 38—The Turkish Government recognizes that it is necessary to take further measures to ensure the freedom of navigation provided for in Article 37, and accordingly delegates, so far as it is concerned, to a Commission to be called the "Commission of the Straits" the control of the waters specified in Article 37.

Article 39—The authority of the Commission will extend to all the waters between the Mediterranean and the Black Sea mouth of the Bosphorus, and to the waters within three miles of each of these mouths.

Article 40—The Commission shall be composed of representatives of the following States: Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Russia (if and when Russia becomes a member of the League of Nations), Greece, Roumania, and P. R. Turkey (if and when the two latter States become members of the League of Nations).

The treaty further outlined the area on either side of the great

"every vessel of commerce or of war without distinction of flag," and the area thus outlined has been officially shown on maps of that area under the title of "Zone of the Straits." Under this treaty the Encyclopedia Britannica in its 1922 edition says:

"The Straits (Dardanelles and Bosphorus) were thrown open to all navigation in peace or war without distinction of flag, blockade of these waters was prohibited, an International Commission of the Straits was established to control the waterway, and a demilitarized 'Zone of the Straits' created to embrace adjacent coastal territory."

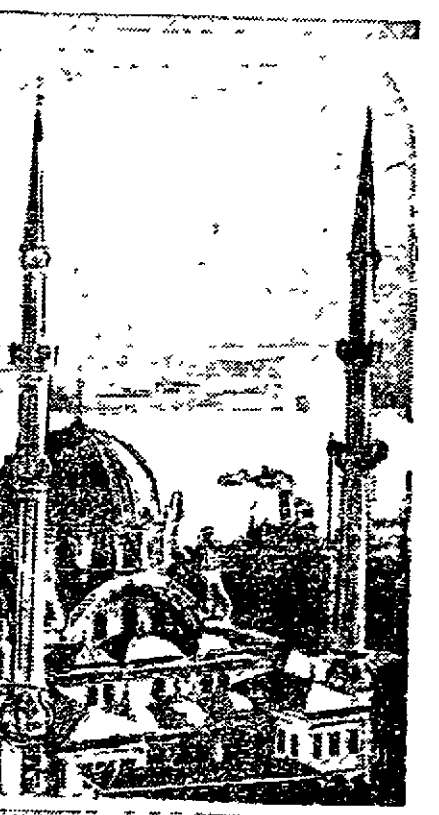

Treaty Not Officially Ratified

This provision of the Sevres Treaty declaring specifically that "navigation of the Straits shall in future be open both in peace and war to every vessel of commerce or of war" was looked upon as likely to terminate the 467 years of Turkish control of that great waterway, and the provisions of the treaty for the freedom of commerce of the Straits have since been put into operation by the Commission appointed for that purpose. Recent developments, however, have made it apparent that the question as to the acceptance by the Turks of the Sevres Treaty is still an open one. The Government of the Sultan at Constantinople failed to ratify the acts of its Plenipotentiaries whose signatures were attached to the Treaty of Sevres, and the Statesman's Year-Book, an accepted authority, states in its 1922 edition that "The Treaty of Sevres although signed August 10, 1920, is not yet ratified by any of the parties."

Turkish Nationalist Government

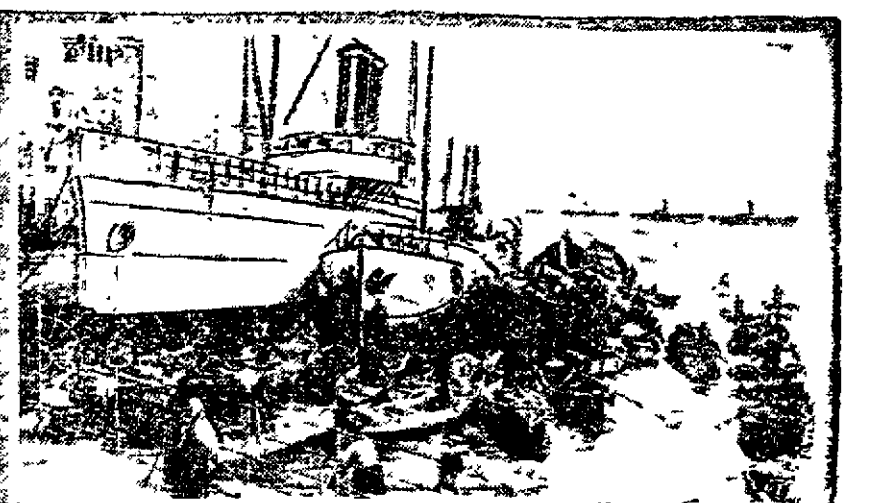

The great uncertainty, however, which now prevails as to the permanence or otherwise of the freedom of commerce in the Straits as provided by the Treaty of Sevres is found in the prospective attitude of the political organization established in 1920 at Ankara, Asia Minor, about 75 miles east of Constantinople, under the title of the "Turkish Nationalist Government," representing a political faction of Turkey formerly known as the "Young Turks" party. Of this organization a writer in Current History of April, 1922, says, "The power of the state is vested in the hands of the National Assembly, the members of which are direct representatives of the people." It operates under the leadership of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, President of the Assembly, whose successes in the field against the Greeks were followed by a refusal on the part of the Ankara Government to in any way recognize the demands of the Treaty of Sevres, as the conference at Sevres was not participated in by official representatives of the Kemal or "Young Turk" Government. Dispatches from Ankara, dated November 4th, state that the Assembly has adopted resolutions purporting to abolish the Sultanate and proclaiming a Republic of Angora Government, which now claims to represent all of Turkey, upon this subject is one of the important factors of the approaching conference to be held at Lausanne, Switzerland, and which is to be attended by the Turkish Nationalist Foreign Minister, Ismet Pasha, and a staff of experts. Reports from Constantinople indicate that the Sultan, who does not accept the Ankara decree for his abdication, has decided not to send delegates to the Lausanne conference. Recent dispatches also indicated that the Russian Soviet Government has been invited by the Allies to send delegates to Lausanne to participate in the discussion relative to the freedom of navigation in the Straits. Nothing is stated as to whether the recently organized governments on the northern frontage of the Black Sea including Ukraine, Taurida, Kuban, Georgia and the Don Republic have been invited to attend, but as the Statesman's Year-Book of 1922 describes them as having close relations with the Government of Russia it is presumed that the Russian delegates at Lausanne will present their views on the question of freedom of commerce both on the Black Sea and in the Straits which connect it with the Mediterranean and the great oceans of the world.

GRANVILLE

(Special to the Advocate)
Granville, Dec. 2.—Parents of boys in Granville village and township have been asked to attend a meeting in the community rooms Monday night at 7 o'clock, to form an organization to back Boy Scout work in Granville. It is called at the instance of a temporary committee, the chairman of which is Dr. C. W. Chamberlain, president of Denison university, and the secretary, C. H. Dickerson, former scoutmaster of Troop 1. Fathers of present, former or prospective scouts are particularly urged to attend. One matter to be considered will be the arrangement of a meeting Friday afternoon, to listen to National Scout Executive James E. West, who will stop in Granville long enough to address a public gathering.

Mrs. Ernest Owens presided at the meeting of the Women's Mission societies of the Granville churches held Friday afternoon in the Baptist church. The lecture room had been transformed into a typical American home as seen on Christmas eve, festooned with red and green, hung with bells and sparkling with the light from the well trimmed Christmas tree, the stage setting for the presentation of a play by a number of college girls under the direction of Mrs. L. R. Dean, entitled, "Lighting the Christmas Candles." This dramatic presentation is a part of the program which is being used throughout the country in aid of the Dollar Day drive for the Union College for Women in the Orient. As performed yesterday it held a strong appeal. "The Spirit of Christmas" was impersonated by Miss Katherine Whitman "Julia" by Misses Faye Cui, Winifred Gill, Eileen Paulush; "Chin" Misses Helen Neel, June Robison, and Mary Dodge; "Whit" Japan" by Miss Tuiyo Komoriya, children, June, Frances and Kathryn Coons; Charles and Margaret Eddy, Richard and King Mather and John Horace Nimenaker. "Dr. Ida Scudder" was the topic of a talk by Mrs. C. W. Chamberlain, bringing out the terrible lot of the women of India. She stated that the work of the deaconess at Dr. John Scudder the first medical missionary to India since his going in 1819, totals a thousand years of service. She stated also that in response to this call for women doctors in India, Miss Elizabeth Ewert, Miss Julia Ewert Marston and Prof. Frank Ewert have given the money for a maternity hospital at Vellore in memory of their mother, the late Mrs. Jerusha Gear Ewert. Mrs. Ewert contributed $2,000. Rockefeller gives a dollar and for every dollar given by both, the British government contributes a dollar. This is the basis of the Dollar Day campaign for which plans have been made. Mrs. Forbes Wiley read letters from her brother Prof. Harold Scott of the Roberts college in Constantinople and from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Scott, in which she stated to spend the Christmas with the Turks, been so hostile and so determined to eradicate Christian influence in the city, but that so far the allied forces had held them in check. Following the program tea was served by the social committee.

Mrs. K. S. Hines and her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Hines, entertained at tea Friday afternoon for the pleasure of about 25 friends who have assisted in preparing the Christmas box to be sent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hines in the Edgerton district, Alberta, Canada. Deciding to forego their own Christmas, the friends of the district, numbering 82 girls and boys, they have completed the task and yesterday afternoon the articles were displayed for the little gifts of toys, dresses, mittens and gloves, caps, for the boys, caps, gloves, knives and toys. Friends have helped with the hand work, and these gifts will be distributed from the community Christmas tree in that cold climate. Assisting hostesses at the tea were Mrs. George H. Reese, who poured; Mrs. Ernest

IN THE SOUTH SEA ISLANDS.
It is customary to waste a lot of pity on the trade of the planter in remote places—lonely outposts of civilization—but, from my observation, they do not need pity, declares a writer in Asia Magazine. The man who stays in the islands is fitted for life there; if he isn't he doesn't stay, and, if he does stay, he can retire after 15 or 20 years, with a tidy fortune.

Of course, the road to fortune is a long and hard one. The average planter starts out with a little capital—say $500. He purchases a plot of land. The price he pays depends upon the locality in which he buys. In regions where the natives are still fairly unsophisticated he may get his land for almost nothing. Even where the natives are most astute he can buy a square mile for what he would pay for an acre back here. His next step is to get his land cleared. To that end he buys a whaleboat and goes out to recruit natives to act as laborers. He needs five or six blacks. They will build his house and clear his land and plant his coconuts. Since it takes seven years for the coconuts to mature, sweet potatoes and cotton must be planted between rows of trees. The sweet potatoes, with a little rice, will furnish all the food required by the blacks. The cotton, if the planter is diligent and lucky, will pay current expenses until the coconuts begin bearing.

Though his small capital of $500 may be eaten up early in the game, the settler need not despair. The big trading companies that do business in the islands, will see him through if he shows any signs of being made of the right stuff. They will give him credit for food and supplies, and they will provide him with knives, calico and tobacco, which he can barter with the blacks for the sandalwood and copra that will help balance his accounts with the companies. And after the first trying seven years his troubles are about over—if he can get labor enough to keep his plantation going.

Makes a Family Syrup of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a small bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of real better cough syrup than you can get from any druggist for three times as much money. Taste pleasant and perfect.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs. To avoid a dangerous mistake, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or your money promptly refunded. Stop that cough now with this simple treatment that heads off the development of serious ailments. It soothes inflamed, tender tissues, loosens hard-packed phlegm and breaks the cold. Now—stop that cough in time—ask your druggist for Playing a part where admirable histrionic ability is necessary as well as physical strength, Glendon is perfectly at home in "More to Be Pitted Than Scorned" and his handling of the role is exceptionally fine and finished.

of the thrills and throbs of the original have been retained and intensified.

J. Frank Glendon who plays the leading part, is too well known to need introduction. He is admirably fitted to the part and his enormous following will insure crowded houses wherever this picture is shown.

Tomorrow following the Elk's Memorial services, which are over shortly after 4 p.m. Harold Bachman and his million dollar band are to give a concert in conjunction with the movie program, which includes a Minstrel Comedy with Lloyd Hamilton, "Toor Boy," Aesop's Fables, a Fox News weekly and Katherine McDonald who is screened in the First National Picture, "Her Social Value." Continuous shows are given tomorrow starting at 4:30 p.m. with the band appearing at 4:45-7 and 9 p.m.

OSCAR APPEL IS UNUSUAL DIRECTOR
The man, who directed "Trail of the Law," an exciting story of love and adventure in the Maine woods, is Oscar Appel. He has produced some of the country's biggest pictures and is recognized as an unusual director. Mr. Appel is always injecting novelty into his films. His latest directing tricks are in "Trail of the Law," which opens at the Grand Sunday.

"RIM OF ETERNITY" IS EPISODE 13
In "The Rim of Eternity," episode 13 of "The Timber Queen," starring Ruth Roland at the Grand theater Sunday and Monday, Ruth, her father and Don finally reach Paris, but there they are again separated. Don is taken prisoner and force is brought to bear upon Ruth's father in such a way that she must marry Clouston. But no power seems great enough to keep Don away from Ruth, and the manner in which he rushes to her rescue is sensational and thrilling.

NEW SUCCESS SCORED BY SHIRLEY MASON
A crowded house greeted the pretty Fox star, Shirley Mason, when she opened a run at the Alhambra theater yesterday in "Very Truly Yours," a story from the pen of Helen Hawkins. The tale is a simple one fundamentally, dealing with a young hotel stenographer's violent wooing, sudden marriage, subsequent misunderstandings and ultimate content and happiness. But in the development of the story there is much of cleverly conceived incident and a constant play of delicate humor.

Miss Mason, by the way, has an exceedingly attractive new leading man in Allan Forrest. The last showings are tonight.

ROY STEWART AT GEM THEATER
Roy Stewart in his latest western drama is the featured attraction at the Gem theater today. "Blue Blood and Red" the title of the production was made by the Universal Film Company and is a crowded full of thrills and action. A William Fox Sunshine Comedy and "In the Days of Buffalo Bill" are also on the program.

KATHERINE MACDONALD STARS IN "GOLD VALUE"
The feature at the Auditorium theater tomorrow will be "Her Social Value," a First National attraction, in which the "American Beauty," Miss Katherine MacDonald, appears. Miss MacDonald in this picture portrays a type of character which has seldom been seen on the screen.

—that of a shopgirl in a large department store. She presides over the glove counter and in a novel manner makes the acquaintance of a society man.

The salesgirl, Marion Lloyd, has finer instincts than the other members of her family, who are contented with their lowly station in life; so when the society man, James Lodge proposes marriage, she accepts and they are wed. But complications ensue.

"TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM" AT REX
The theme of the film drama "Ten Nights in a Barroom," adapted by L. Case Russell from the old stage sensation, is a historical drama, intensely interesting, appealing and entirely adequate. It is the story of folly and a child; just a little wisp of a girl, with a world of innocent tenderness and pathetic juvenility. Baby Ivy Ward takes the part of little Mary Morgan, so wistful and confiding; so tender and innocent that she literally sweeps the emotions of all before her; and her father, Joe Morgan, as played by John Lowell, is a real type of the ignorant, warm hearted, red blooded outdoor man, ruled by his appetites and passions, but held by his intense love for his child. The remainder of the cast are typical, clear-cut and competent and the settings are natural. It is real entertainment and will give you much to think about.

"VERY TRULY YOURS" SHIRLEY MASON

Rex, Saturday and Sunday and Gem Monday and Tuesday.

"IDOLS OF CLAY" AT THE GEM THEATER
In "Idols of Clay," George Fitzmaurice's new picture, which will be seen at the Gem theater next Sunday, Miss Murray is a South Sea island girl who conceives a romantic attachment for a handsome young sculptor who was drifted to the tropics.

The extreme breadth of the Atlantic ocean is 5,000 miles.

Why Did The "OLD HOME" Make Loans at 6%?

During the year or more when 7% was the prevailing rate on loans, THE "OLD HOME" held its rate to 6% to help keep down the cost of home ownership for Newark people.

This meant a loss of possible profits to us, but it meant a SERVICE FOR NEWARK PEOPLE and this the "OLD HOME" considers to be of first importance.

LEGAL POINTS FOR AUTOMOBILE OWNER

(By SAMUEL WANT, LL. B.)

Theft insurance policies covering automobiles continue to come before the courts in a variety of cases involving the question what constitutes "theft" or "larceny" within the terms of such policies.

In a New York case the car was obtained from the owner by persons representing themselves as dealers in second hand cars. The machine was delivered to them for sale on a commission basis, and they absconded with it. Upon the ground that the owner voluntarily parted with his car, even though it was under misrepresentation and trickery, the court decided that the Insurance Company was not liable for the loss. But as pointed out in preceding articles the courts of most other states hold that the theft policy covers not only the usual character of theft, but also any fraudulent scheme whereby the owner is led through trickery or misrepresentation to part with his car, and as a result of which he loses it.

A recent decision of a federal court applies the rule that if the purchaser of an automobile is under age, he may return the car to the dealer and demand the return of the full amount paid by him, less only a reasonable amount for the actual use made of the car while it was in the purchaser's possession.

In a Wisconsin case the question of the owner's liability was submitted to the jury where the evidence showed that the chauffeur took the car to his home upon his employer's directions, and during the ride picked up some of his own friends to take them to their homes, and negligently collided with another car while so engaged.

Another textbook dealing exclusively with the law of automobiles was published recently. It contains over thirteen hundred pages, and deals with over three thousand decided cases. This branch of the law is growing in volume at a rapid pace. Its complexities, with the numerous risks of liability and loss to the automobile and truck owner, should be more widely understood, and the present is already on foot to require all persons driving a car to acquire some knowledge of the essentials of the law as a prerequisite to obtaining a driver's license. Readers of this newspaper who desire a list of the available books on the subject or a discussion of some particular branch of the law of automobiles are invited to visit the editor. No charge is made for this service.

Highway noise, terms still furnish interesting questions of legal responsibility. In a New York case the court decided that it was not negligent in the motorist to establish a net of negligence on the part of the owner of this team, in order to prevent the car from being driven by a child. The net was not a part of the accident was charged to the owner of the car. But if the owner of a team can show that his net was not a part of the accident was charged to the owner of the car. But if the owner of a team can show that his net was not a part of the accident was charged to the owner of the car.

A "parkway" is not a "parkway" within the meaning of automobile regulations. Accordingly where the law required motorists to keep to the right on streets divided longitudinally to apply to streets along the sides of a parkway, it was held not of a space 570 feet long, extending the length of a full city block, and used as a park by the public.

The Oregon Supreme Court has decided that it is not double taxation or otherwise unconstitutional to levy an ad valorem tax on all automobiles, and another license charge for the use of the highways. And an Arkansas case holds that the legislature may constitutionally impose a license tax on the owners of automobiles and in addition impose a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline, the same to be collected by the dealer and accounted for to the State.

On the question of the proof of speed, in cases in which accidents are alleged to have been due to fast driving or where a driver is charged with speeding, the courts take a common sense view of the means of proof that is in striking contrast to the technicalities governing most other fields of proof. Expert witnesses are never required.

express an opinion as to how fast an automobile which came under his observation, was going at a particular time, and the courts have liberally admitted as evidence of speed, the opinion of witnesses who actually saw the machine in motion at the time in question; and the force of such evidence does not appear materially to be weakened by vague expressions, such as that the automobile was "going like an express train" or that it went "very fast," the rate thereafter being estimated as being twenty-five or thirty miles an hour.

But when the speed of a motor vehicle is described by such general expressions as that it went "a good deal faster than a horse trot," it went "pretty fast," it has been decided that excessive speed is not proved, especially where the machine in question actually ran but little more than its length after striking a pedestrian.

W. E. Stalnaker Appointed General Sales Manager Earl Motors, Inc.

Company's Outlook for 1923 Very Optimistic.

Following a meeting of the board of directors of Earl Motors, Inc., held at Jackson, Michigan, on November 21st, announcement was made by George C. Scobie, president, of the appointment of W. E. Stalnaker as general sales manager. Mr. Stalnaker brings to the company years of automobile experience, not only in the selling field, but in manufacturing as well. Primarily a big business man, he is thoroughly versed in the details of factory sales problems, as well as in dealer organization.

Mr. Stalnaker is, due to his long association with the industry and his likable personality, very well known to distributors throughout the country, and holds a high place in the regard of many of the big men of the automobile business.

Recently Mr. Stalnaker formed a company in Chicago which took over the distribution of the Earl line in that territory, but later he was prevailed upon to accept the position of general sales manager. His previous connections have all contributed to his understanding of the automobile industry, and includes the vice presidency and sales management of one of the old line companies.

Amethysts of a very fine quality come from India, Ceylon, and Brazil.

Menace of Single Headlight
 A car driven at night with only one of the headlights burning causes the driver coming from the opposite direction to be puzzled as to which side the lamp is lighted. If he guesses wrong, only a quick turn of the wheel will avert a collision. Drivers should look out for the safety of others as well as for their own.

Splendid System in Maryland
 Patrolmen in Maryland are requested to report to the State Highway Department the location and cause of every accident that occurs on the state roads. The information acquired in this way is used by the department as a guide in the planning of improvements which will reduce the accident hazard. When numerous accidents are found to occur at any point, the dangerous feature is eliminated even at considerable expense.

Why Didn't Samson Dress Up?

While teaching the third grade I read a Bible story to my class. But before reading the story, presented the illustrated picture of the un-dressed strong figure of Samson.
Then I read one of Samson's riddles and told them Samson informed the Philistines he would give 30 suits of clothes to anyone who would guess the riddle. At that point I was interrupted by a 8-year-old wailer who asked, "Miss Clara, if he had that many clothes, why didn't he put on a suit?"

CHRISTMAS SEALS HELP STAMP OUT T-B IN LICKING COUNTY

Christmas Seals support the crusade
of the double-barred cross in the United States. A new seal is issued each year, but the double-barred
cross stands as the permanent emblem under which is carried on the warfare against tuberculosis the year
around by voluntary health organizations.

Until three years ago the seals bore the emblem of the American Red Cross. At that time the Red Cross withdrew its emblem, and since then the seals have been marked only by the emblem of the National Tuberculosis Association—the double barred cross.

Through the annual sale of the Christmas Seals, millions of people have learned of the nature and prevention of tuberculosis; hundreds of tuberculosis hospitals have been built; clinics, nursing service, open air schools and fresh air camps have been provided, and the state and national organizations have been enabled to keep before the public the menace of the disease and means of resisting it.

Christmas Seals support the crusade
of the double-barred cross in the United States. A new seal is issued
each year, but the double-barred
cross stands as the permanent emblem under which is carried on the
warfare against tuberculosis the year
around by voluntary health organizations.

ones are they? Do you realize what a difference the time and day make in shopping satisfaction? The crowded, hurried conditions which in-evitably prevail during the afternoons of the last week before Christ-shopping at an earlier day and hour would.
